this revised edition of michael byram s classic 1997 book updates the text in light of both recent research and critiques and commentaries on the 1st edition beginning from the premise that foreign and second language teaching should prepare learners to use a language with fluency and accuracy and also to speak with people who have different cultural identities social values and behaviours the book is an invaluable guide for teachers and curriculum developers taking them from a definition of intercultural communicative competence through planning for teaching to assessment this edition refines the definitions of the five savoirs of intercultural competence and includes new sections on issues such as moral relativism and human rights mediation intercultural citizenship and teachers ethical responsibilities

it is now widely recognised that learning a language should not just involve linguistic competence but also intercultural competence it is also clear that intercultural competence can be developed through related subjects such as geography history mother tongue teaching this book takes this as a given and provides practical help for teachers who wish to help their learners acquire intercultural competence in the ordinary classroom it contains descriptions of lessons and materials from a wide range of classrooms in several countries and for beginners to advanced learners eva aldén soler maria pilar safont jordà universitat jaume i spain the main purpose of the present book is to broaden the scope of research on the development of intercultural communicative competence bearing this purpose in mind english learners are considered as intercultural speakers who share their interest for engaging in real life communication according to byram and fleming 1998 the intercultural speaker is someone with knowledge of one or more cultures and social identities and who enjoys discovering and maintaining relationships with people from other cultural backgrounds although s he has not been formally trained for that purpose besides possessing knowledge of at least two cultures is the case of many learners in bilingual or multilingual communities in these contexts the objective of language learning should then focus on developing intercultural competence which in turn may involve promoting language diversity while encouraging english as both a means and an end of instruction see aldén this volume this is the idea underlying the volume which further sustains kramsch s argument 1998 against the native non native dichotomy following that author we also believe that in a multilingual world where learners may belong to more than one speech community their main goal is not to become a native speaker of english but to use this language as a tool for interaction among many other languages and cultures this book presents a concise critical overview of the literature on intercultural communicative competence icc and offers insights into research on this concept as a novel contribution to the field the book frames icc in relation to other learner variables such as motivation willingness to communicate communication apprehension and self perceived communication competence based on empirical data the study proposes and tests a model of english majors icc interacting with individual differences related to l2 communication the findings highlight that students beliefs about their own performance their apprehension from communication situations and their language learning motivation were successfully integrated into a new model of intercultural communicative competence as understood in an interactional efl context
